AREA DEMENTIA DIAGNOSTIC CLINICS IN WISCONSIN

Obtaining an accurate diagnosis of a dementia disorder is often the most important first step made by patients and families in their effort to secure the education and support needed to cope with dementia disease. Diagnostic clinics provide evaluation and management services to patients and their families. A typical patient will undergo neuropsychological testing, a comprehensive history, physical examination and, if appropriate, laboratory and x-ray testing during the initial evaluation. MEDICARE

MEDICARE is a federal health insurance program, which helps defray many of the medical expenses of most Americans over the age of 65. Persons eligible for Social Security may also apply for Medicare benefits.

Older people should apply for Medicare benefits three months prior to their 65th birthday. Working persons over 65 are entitled to Medicare even though they do not apply for Social Security.

Medicare has two parts:

PART A -- HOSPITAL INSURANCE

Medicare Part A helps pay the cost of inpatient hospital care, in some instances, and under certain conditions, Part A helps pay for inpatient care in a skilled nursing facility, home health care and hospice care.

PART B -- MEDICAL INSURANCE

Part B helps pay for medically necessary doctors' services, outpatient hospital services and some other medical services. Enrollees must pay a monthly premium for Part B.

Medicare will pay for many health care services but not all of them. Medicare does not cover custodial care or care that is not determined to be reasonable and necessary for the diagnosis or treatment of an illness or injury.

It is possible to privately purchase supplemental health insurance. This is sometimes referred to as "Medigap". Before purchasing a policy, care should be taken to assure that the plan provides the coverage that the older person wants and needs.
